

Volunteer Park Path Upgrades

Restoring Olmsted's Vision / Creating a Safer Park

Through an inclusive planning process in partnership with the Capitol Hill Community, Seattle Parks and Recreation, the National Park Service, Friends of Seattle's Olmsted Parks (FSOP), Volunteer Park Trust (VPT) and many other local and regional stakeholders, the Seattle Art Museum is in the process of constructing two historic Olmsted pathways, improving the surfacing of existing park pathways, strengthening the connection between 15th Avenue/ public transit and the park, and improving safe pedestrian circulation around the Seattle Asian Art Museum.

Your patience while this critical work is completed is appreciated.

TIMELINE

- Nov. 16, 2018: Asphalt Paving Complete (weather dependant)
- Nov. 26, 2018: Olmsted Paths Complete (weather dependant)
- Nov. 30, 2018: Construction fencing removed at park pathways (weather dependant)
- April 19, 2019: Site Restoration Complete

2018 Aerial

1910 Olmsted Plan

- Historic Olmsted path to be constructed
- Restored park pathway
- Pathway to be relocated
- Relocated pathway